FIGHT TO OPEN ON IMMIGRATION BILL TUESDAY

Republican Leaders Hope To Effect Temporary Cessation.
FIGHT IS PROMISED
Lack of Proper Facilities to Care for New Comers Pointed Out.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Acting under the belief that the country is demanding a temporary cessation of the flood of immigration, Republican leaders in the house planned this morning to jam through late today under a special ruling limiting debate of the Johnson bill suspending all immigrating for a period of two years.

Efforts to effect an organized fight against the legislation were made today by Rep. Siegel of New York, Republican and Rep. Sabath, Chicago, Democrat. Each represents a district with a large foreign population. They want more drastic exclusion regulation to keep out the undesirable but free admission of all immigrants who are likely to make good citizens.

The report of the house immigration committee supporting the Johnson bill calls attention to the great rush of European Jews into the country. It points to the fact that all these emigrants are destined to the large industrial centers now overcrowded and without housing accommodations for their present residents. None of the immigrants of the class now coming in are agriculturists. The committee has been informed that millions of Jews from Poland and Germany are seeking passports from their governments to come to the United States and that all are without funds. Siegel and Sabath claim that the proposed legislation is aimed at exclusion of the Jews. Pacific Coast members are disappointed that the bill does not provide specifically for exclusion of Japanese immigration. They will try to have a provision to this effect inserted in the bill.

WOMAN OFFERS TO SURRENDER IF SHE GETS WOMAN JURY

Alleged Slayer of Omaha "Oil King" Is Heard From.

Ardmore, Okla., Dec. 7.—Existing laws of the state of Oklahoma will prevent a trial by twelve women jurors of Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon, alleged slayer of Jake L. Hamon, multi-millionaire Oklahoma "oil king," according to County Attorney Russell P. Brown today. Brown told the International News Service "he would be glad" to try Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon before twelve women but that the state laws interfered.

The sensational interview held with the missing woman near San Antonio by Perry M. Ross, a newspaper correspondent, has caused the pursuit to be redoubled. Attorney Brown has wired San Antonio police to "use every known agency" to apprehend Mrs. Hamon and to arrest Ross if necessary as a material witness to compel her delivery.

Mrs. Hamon during her interview with Ross, offered to surrender if assured by Attorney Brown that she would be tried by twelve women jurors.

"The attorney general of Oklahoma recently ruled that a special act of the Oklahoma legislature would be necessary before women could serve on juries," Brown replied to the offer. As far as I am concerned I would gladly accept only women as jurors but the laws of Oklahoma interfere."

DEALINGS QUIET AT THE STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 7.—Dealings were unusually quiet at the opening of the stock market today, only moderate price changes being recorded, some issues making gains while others receded slightly.

Attention was attracted to Texas Pacific Oil and Coal by the statements published this morning by the high valuation placed on the oil land leases by the government and that stock rose 2 points to 33 which was quickly followed by a reaction to 32 1/4. Mexican Petroleum rose 1 1/8 to 173 1/2 followed by reaction to 172 3/4.

Pan American petroleum made an opening advance of 5/8 to 82 1/2. Southern Pacific was in fair demand starting with a gain of 3/8 to 102 3/8, and then reacting to 102 1/8. Steel rights rose fractionally to 23. Steel common ranged from 81 7/8 to 82 1/8 during the first fifteen minutes. Baldwin Locomotives was in supply dropping 7/8 to 94 1/2.

AMERICAN NAVY DEPENDENT ON BRITISH CHARTS

Nearly 30 Per Cent Of Sailing Charts Come From Britain.

ENGLAND HOLDS WHIP

Seventy Five Per Cent Of European Sea Maps Are British.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The United States Navy is absolutely dependent on the British admiralty for nearly 30 per cent of her sailing charts, and entrance of American warships into European waters is practically under the control of the British government, Chief Hydrographer L. H. Chandler, asserted today in his annual report to the secretary of the navy.

Of the 4,542 charts used in navigating American war vessels and merchant ships in 1920, the navy department furnished only 2,720, being compelled to look to British naval authorities for 1,178, the report said. Seventy five per cent of the sea maps used in navigating northern European waters came from British sources.

"During the last war," Rear Admiral Chandler continued, "we were fortunately associated with Great Britain and were therefore able to get the necessary charts from the British admiralty. In any future war in which Great Britain were either neutral or hostile, we would be fatally restricted by lack of charts."

CLEVELAND POLICE BREAK UP GANG OF ALLEGED ROBBERS

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Said To Be Involved.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 7.—Leo Friedman, 35, is under arrest here today on a charge of receiving stolen goods and Cleveland police believe that they have evidence which will lead to the breaking up of a gang that has been operating the several states whose speculations will run high in the hundreds of thousands. Woolen goods valued at $25,000 were also recovered, which, police say, is but part of the loot of the gang.

Acting on a tip from New York that a car of stolen wools was on the way here, a trap was laid which resulted in the arrest of Friedman and one other late last night. The name of the second man was not revealed by the police.

Friedman asserts that he was an innocent purchaser for value.

The stolen goods were the property of J. B. Seoville, manufacturer, Fourth avenue, New York.

After a great deal of effort Austria scraped together this sum, but now she is attempting to get the remainder of the four before January to prevent starvation and hunger riots. After futile efforts to borrow the money the members of the Austrian government determined to "hook" the Gobelins.

DAUGHERTY WILL BE IN CABINET, BELIEF

Washington, Dec. 7.—Three names which stood in the foreground, among the many discussed as possible cabinet members of the Harding cabinet were those of John W. Weeks of Massachusetts for secretary of the navy; Will H. Hays of Indiana for postmaster general, and Harry M. Daugherty for attorney general, although the latter has said he will have no official position.

That no formal offers of cabinet places had been made was emphasized by Harding himself. "No place has been offered to any one," the president-elect said.

VIOLATES SHERMAN LAW

It ordered a dissolution of the various combinations composing the combination. The decrees of lower courts were reversed.

IRISH POLICE FORCE WANTED BY SINN FEIN

Peace Terms Of Party At Variance With Home Rule Bill.

SCORE DUAL SYSTEM

One Parliament Demanded—As For Fiscal Autonomy.

London, Dec. 7.—Sinn Fein peace terms as revealed today by the Daily Graphic are at wide variance with the proposals contained in the home rule bill now being debated in the house of lords. According to this newspaper they provide for a single Irish parliament instead of a dual parliament as set forth in the home rule bill. Sinn Fein insist on the right to establish its own militia and police forces, but does not wish an Irish navy. Furthermore the Sinn Fein ask for fiscal autonomy and the power to negotiate commercial treaties on the principle of Irish independence.

It is reported that a Sinn Fein envoy has been in London for five weeks to consult with republican leaders. Sir Horace Plunkett, famous Irish leader who will sail for New York tomorrow on the liner Baltic does not believe that the peace proceeding will be successful. Sir Horace is one of the originators of the movement for a dominion form of government in Ireland. Discussing the Irish outlook today he said:

"If any peace proposals have been made and considered they came from the pacifist side and are not recognized by leaders of the republican movement. The government instituting a terrorist campaign but it failed. Now the government is attempting to work through economic pressure but this will fail also. There is no tangible prospect for a truce. The whole thing amounts to this: The government has a pious hope that proposals for peace will be repudiated by the party which is demanding freedom of Ireland."

I. W. W. MEETING IN YOUNGSTOWN IS RANK FAILURE

Police Refuse Permission To "Big Bill" Haywood To Give Talk.

Youngstown, O., Dec. 7.—The I. W. W. meeting scheduled for last night in which "Big Bill" Haywood was the chief speaker did not pan out very well. When Haywood put in an appearance at the old armory hall of officers told him that he could not speak there. A quick shift was made in plans and the crowd gathered at Labor Lyceum hall where Captain Brammer of the police told Haywood he would arrest him if he attempted to speak. Haywood turned the meeting over to a man named Wilson, a socialist candidate for mayor of Girard, who took up a collection for the benefit of I. W. W. in jail. Police arrested M. P. Isaacs, 38, who started to sell "red" song books published by I. W. W. and inscribed "to fan the flames of discontent." His supply of literature and songs were confiscated.

FIRST LADY OF LAND ENTERTAINS NEXT OCCUPANT OF PLACE

Mrs. Wilson Extends Hospitality To Mrs. Harding.

Washington, Dec. 7.—For the first time within the memory of the oldest attaché of the White House a first lady of the land entertained a next first lady of the land.

Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, wife of the President elect, was the guest of Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, wife of the President at an informal tea for two at the Executive Mansion late Monday afternoon. Mrs. Wilson met her guest in the front hall and escorted her to the blue room, where tea was served.

After Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Harding had chatted awhile, they walked about the White House, through the green room and the red room and the state dining room, over which Mrs. Harding will be called upon to preside after March 4. Mrs. Harding did not meet the President, who had retired to his study on the upper floor to read, nor was she shown over the White House kitchen.

Mrs. Harding prepared to depart after spending an hour with her hostess and had progressed as far as the front doorway when Mrs. Wilson suddenly recollecting details of the White House household organization which she had forgotten to impart, invited her back and they withdrew again to the blue room where they talked 20 minutes.

ADDRESS IS NOT DELIVERED BY THE PRESIDENT

Urges Congress To Make Nation Champion Of Justice.

LEAGUE IS OMITTED

Gist of Speech Based On Quotation From Lincoln.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Calling attention to the fact that the United States is the "sample democracy of the world" and as such is constantly under world scrutiny, President Woodrow Wilson in his last congressional message today urged upon congress the duty of making this nation the champion of right and justice in world affairs.

Only by rectifying wrongs within our own borders and championing the right wherever it is in danger, the president pointed out, can the United States fulfill its destiny and keep faith with the fathers of the republic.

The president's message made no mention of the league of nations nor any international aspect in particular. It was a short message and more than half of it was devoted to domestic affairs.

At the last moment President Wilson yielded to the wishes of his physician and did not attempt to go to the capital and deliver the message in person before a joint session of the two houses.

Instead a few minutes before noon the message was transmitted to each house separately and there was read to the members.

President Wilson began his message with a quotation from Lincoln: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in the faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

The simple faith expressed in Lincoln's words formed the gist of the entire document. There was no reference to the tumultuous closing days of his own administration nor the incoming Republican administration on March 4. This one phrase, the president said, marks out America's duty in both foreign and domestic affairs. "By this faith alone," he said, "can the world be lifted out of its present state of confusion and despair."

The president himself sums up his message in the final paragraph: "I have not so much said before you a series of recommendations," he said, "as I have sought to utter a confession of faith, of the faith in which I was bred, and which it is my solemn purpose to stand by until my last fighting days. I believe this to be the faith of America, the faith of the future and of all the victories which await national action in days to come, whether in America or else where."

The first half of the presidential message was devoted to expressions of his faith and the urging upon congress its duty to make America indeed the triumphal force for right and justice.

Then turning to domestic affairs, the president recommended to congress the following:

"The passage of a budget bill to stabilize the government's finances. Stricter economy in governmental expenditures in order that the burden of taxation be lightened and the national debt be decreased. Revision and simplification of the taxation system, which he declared has become "an immediate necessity."

The granting of a loan to the "struggling government of Armenia."

Granting to the Philippines their independence "as they have succeeded in maintaining a stable government."

Later he said that he and Cistris had quarreled over the gun, and the latter threw it away. When it struck the ground it exploded, he said, and Cistris was killed. The lay home and was frightened that he did not report the death.

WANT PICTURE HOUSES TO CLOSE ON SUNDAY

Only the Sunday closing of motion picture theaters and not the general enforcement of the "blue laws" is the object planned by the Clark County Ministerial Association according to Rev. Robert Bruce Smith, of Springfield, chairman of the civic reform and Sabbath observance committee of the association.

Announcement was made several weeks ago that the Ministerial Association would attempt to close the picture houses in Springfield on Sunday, and rumors were that the Association would attempt other "blue laws." The Association for the enforcement of any other Sunday law at this time and has not discussed any other," said Rev. Smith.

Mayor Westcott, of Springfield, said that such a movement would be "unfortunate and ill-advised" at this time.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COMMITTEE TO ACT ON STREET CAR ISSUE WITH THE COMPANY

The local street car transportation question will be taken up with officials of the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway by a committee appointed at the director's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening.

The committee appointed consists of H. A. Higgins, H. S. LeSourd, J. W. Prugh, Charles Adams, F. L. Smith and D. W. Cherry. This committee will work with the city commission in the situation.

The report that the electric railway company will abandon use of the city car in this city after the present franchise with the city had expired, is believed to be one reason for the investigation to be undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce.

The car has been operated East on Main street and South on Detroit street for a number of years under the present franchise, making two trips each hour from the business section to the O. S. and S. O. Home and one each hour to the East End.

The car would be greatly missed, especially residents at the Home and by laborers in the East End who use the car on their trips to and from work, it is pointed out.

The question will be taken up with officials of the road at Dayton, by the committee appointed Monday night.

Dr. W. A. Galloway addressed the gathering, using for his text, the motto of the Elks: "The faults of our brother we write upon the sands and their virtues in tablets of love and memory." Using these words, Dr. Galloway paid a beautiful tribute to the lodge brothers who have died.

No members of the Lodge died during the past year, but in the roll call of the dead, Secretary Paul Owens read the list of those who have passed away since the local lodge was organized. Miss Gladys Purdom sang two selections at the exercises accompanied on the piano by Mrs. James Savage.

BRING SUIT AGAINST P. C. C. & ST. L. R. R. FOR SETTLEMENT

Frank Townsley and R. C. Ritenour, doing business as Townsley and Ritenour of Cedarville, filed suit in Common Pleas Court Tuesday against the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company, asking for damages in the sum of $104,460.

The plaintiff declared that on December 19, 1919, that they loaded a car with 20 head of cattle to be delivered to Chicago. They claim that while the car was moved from the local yards at Cedarville to the main line, that through the "grossness of negligence and carelessness of employees," the car collided with other cars, the legs of two of the cattle being broken in the wreck. The petition avers that the defendant company took these two cattle and used them for their own use without paying for them. They further charge that due to the injuries from the wreck and the delay occasioned by the wreck, that the 18 other cattle suffered a shrinkage in weight of 25 pounds per steer.

The petition claims that the plaintiffs suffered a loss of $525.30 on the two steers and $519.30 on the shrinkage in weight of the other 18, the total damages asked for being $1,044.60. Marcus Shoup is attorney for the plaintiff.

TENTATIVE PLANS LAID FOR CLEANUP OF CITY IN SPRING

Tentative plans have been laid for a general clean up and city beautification campaign to be conducted next February or March.

This was the substance of the report of Dr. B. R. McClellan, chairman of the city beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce made at the board of directors meeting Monday evening.

Dr. McClellan reported that his committee had met several times for discussion of the plans for civic improvement and the spring campaign was finally decided upon as the best method of impressing the people with the possibilities of a more beautiful city.

Dr. McClellan read a letter from J. E. Daly, former director of the Chamber of Commerce and Assistant Train Master of the Pennsylvania Railroad here, who heartily recommended the beautification plan and said the railroad company would be ready to cooperate in any way possible to assist in the beautification movement in their section of the city.

C. OF C. WILL PUSH PROTEST AGAINST PHONE RATE RAISE

Attorney C. L. Darlington, was permanently retained to represent the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of the proposed rate increase of the Central Union Telephone Company at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber held Monday evening at eight o'clock.

Mr. Darlington, who is a member of the board of directors was instructed to thoroughly investigate the proposed rate increase and prepare to protest the rate in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce at the hearing on the increase to be given before the State Public Utilities Commission January 10, having been postponed to that date from November 30, when it was originally scheduled.

In the meantime the telephone company, which is known as the Bell company, is collecting the increase in rates which went into effect Nov. 1. The company, however, has a $5,500 bond posted with the State Utilities Commission as good faith that should the commission rule that all or part of the increase is exorbitant patrons who have paid the new rates will be refunded the difference.

It is always dependable.

GREATEST CROP OF CHRISTMAS TREES

Boston, Dec. 7.—A Christmas tree crop of more than 1,500,000 evergreen trees, spruce, fir and hemlock, has been cut in the forests and pastures of New England for the approaching holiday observance. The crop is the largest ever cut.

Most of the trees will go to Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland and other points hundreds of miles distant.

From the little town of East Fairfield, Vt., alone 30,000 trees are being shipped to points in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

On the stump these trees have been sold by the farmer or woodland owner for a few cents each, large lots selling at $25 to $30 a thousand.

A statement on the Christmas tree industry prepared by the New Hampshire forestry department predicts that "at no distant date the growing of trees near large centers of consumption will become the practice."

BID FOR NEW DEPOT FOR CITY WILL BE MADE IS BELIEF

The proposition of improved railroad transportation and terminals, will be taken up here by a committee composed of C. A. Weaver, P. H. Flynn and J. W. Prugh, appointed by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held Monday evening.

This committee will work with the Dayton Chamber of Commerce, which organization through Secretary E. L. McClellan, is endeavoring to improve track and terminal services through this section. That the committee appointment of Monday night means a bid for a new Pennsylvania railroad depot in this city, is evident.

The present depot, built many years ago, has long been outgrown for a city of this size and railroad importance. The structure is antiquated and it is believed that if it had not been for the war, that the Pennsylvania Company would have erected a depot here some time ago. The local railroad yards also have room for improvement.

The committee will co-operate with the Dayton organization in the attempt to bring the attention of the railroad officials to the antiquated facilities here and bring about a movement for a new station and other improvements.

IT IS WELL, AT LEAST PART OF THE TIME, TO REFRESH OUR MINDS ABOUT HOME AFFAIRS.

More particularly since the world war, have we all been called upon to post ourselves with the world news daily. In a great measure much of this is distracting because it is so scattering. It seems to mimic affairs at home, in our own country, and spread us out over "all creation."

The sixty-sixth Congress of the United States convened at noon Monday for its third and final session, with, as outstanding events, the attendance at the Senate session of President-elect Warren G. Harding and the presentation Tuesday of President Wilson's message. The former a leading member of the Republican party, and the latter an aggressive member of the Democratic party.

With the contest of these two major parties so recently in mind, would it not be a good time for us to refresh our minds as to all the parties that have existed in the country since its formation.

Perhaps much of the history of parties, will be news to many of us, and it ought to be interesting to all of us.

During the Revolutionary war there was a quasi-division of the Colonial population into Whigs and Tories—the former supporting the struggle for independence and the latter favoring England. After that war, Washington, a Whig, was chosen president as a matter of course. His was a coalition government but differences soon developed in his cabinet. Hamilton favored a strong central government while Jefferson championed local government and popular rights. The followers of Hamilton were known as Federalists, and those of Jefferson as Republicans. The latter changed their name first to the Republican-Democratic party, and later to plain Democratic.

The Federalists got most of their support from the Northern states, which leaned to manufacturing, while the Democrats had their stronghold in the South, which had cheap slave labor and abundant raw materials. The lines of division were thus largely sectional and economic, based on the pocketbook. The Federalists when in power passed the alien and sedition and other unpopular laws and they were driven out of power when Jefferson came into the presidency in 1801. They committed another error by opposing the War of 1812; this sealed their doom as a party and left the field almost undisputed to the Democrats for many years. Monroe, a Democrat, in his message to congress in 1823, announced the famous Monroe doctrine, which has survived till today and which proved one of the stumbling-blocks to the Wilson peace treaty.

In 1824 no candidate had a majority of electoral votes and the election was thrown into the house, which chose J. Q. Adams for president. Adams came of Federalist antecedents but he was a coalition president. Jackson succeeded him, served eight years and was followed by his understudy VanBuren. While Jackson was popular, his wayward acts developed opposition. About 1828 the National Republican party arose and this broadened into the Whig party about 1834. The Whigs exerted a powerful influence on the nation's affairs and yet they did not have the solidarity to elect either Webster or Clay, their leading lights, as president. The trouble was that the Northern Whigs favored protection and nationalism, while the Southern Whigs were for free-trade and state rights, and this kept them working at cross purposes.

The Whigs made the mistake of opposing the Mexican war and they also showed themselves incapable of dealing with the growing issue of slavery. The Democrats had provoked the Mexican war in order to win the Texas territory and thus increase the slave-holding area. Their object was to counterbalance the admission of new Western states which were adding to the non-slave territory. The Democrats after about 60 years of virtually unhindered control began to show signs of disintegration in the period which led up to the Civil war. They made the error of upholding slavery, a thing which Jefferson himself had denounced as inhuman, and this brought on the "irrepressible conflict."

In 1860 the Northern and Southern Democrats split and out of the ashes rose full-fledged and phoenix-like the new Republican party. This party had its origin in 1856, when Fremont, known as "the Pathfinder," was put up for president but was defeated by Buchanan, a weak Northern Democrat. In 1860 Lincoln was elected as the first Republican president and the South, finding its hold on the nation gone and its pet institution of slavery doomed, saw no alternative but to secede. As the result of the Civil war the seceding states were forced back into the Union and the "rope-of-sand" doctrine, as well as slavery and state rights, was cast on the scrap-heap, after causing a heap of "scrap."

Grant was elected president as a matter of course at the end of the Civil war. The Republicans had the right of way, but the troubles of reconstruction plagued them and gradually the old Democratic opposition grew stronger. After Grant came Hayes and Garfield, both Republicans, and then sentiment whisked about and put Cleveland, a Northern Democrat, into the White House. He was followed by Harrison, a Republican; then came Cleveland for a second term; then McKinley and Roosevelt; then Taft—three Republicans, and finally Wilson with his two terms brings the list up to date.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of the Gazette,
Xenia, Ohio

Dear Sir—
The disgraceful conduct of some youths at the R. Hayes Hamilton lecture Friday evening, November 26 has been a matter of no little concern to the school authorities. Direct accusations were laid before some of our students, who were able to prove in a more or less satisfactory manner their innocence in the matter, implicating at the time some young people who are not members of our student body. We do not intend to shift the blame for those for whom we feel responsible and especially for this occasion which was distinctly a High School affair; consequently we would appreciate information which would fasten the guilt upon the guilty parties if they are High School people.

I think the alumnus who has called the attention of the public to this incident through these columns last Friday evening has performed a service of merit; nothing else could have emphasized the individual responsibility of every boy and girl in the matter of their conduct both in school and out. I am confident that the entire High School deeply regrets the affair, and this alumnus can render greater service to the school if he is willing to communicate with principal concerning the matter. The Faculty and the great majority of students wish to eradicate such conduct from the school, and if any of its members are responsible for this disrespectful act, the school will assume appropriate action.

Yours very truly,

HARPER C. PENDRY

MOTHER STILL SEEKS NEWS OF SON WHO DISAPPEARED FROM U. S. NAVY

Denver, Dec. 7.—What fate befell J. B. Frazier, of the United States Navy, who on January 7, 1918, was given shore leave from his ship in New York Harbor and never returned?

On the records of the Navy Department Jennings Bryan Frazier is classified as a deserter, for he failed to report back to his ship at the expiration of his leave of absence, but although nearly three years have passed since then nothing can make his mother believe that such is the case.

Mrs. Frazier is positive that her son did not desert, but was the victim of foul play while he was on shore leave and although a sufferer from tuberculosis, who is making a courageous fight against the ravages of the great white plague in the high altitude of this section, she has never ceased her efforts to gain some trace of her lost boy, or ascertain his fate. Day by day she waits for some news to come to her which will clear up the mystery and remove the stain against her son's name on the navy records.

Jennings Bryan Frazier lived with his mother and brother in Kansas City, Mo., and enlisted in the navy as a third-class fireman in November, 1917. While in the service he injured his back and after a seige in a New York hospital was transferred from fireman to baker, and was a cook on board the receiving ship at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

On January 7 he was to sail on the steamship Prairie for Cuba, and before sailing was given shore leave. That was the last heard from him.

He wrote many letters to his mother and brother, all of which told of his fondness for life in the navy. On January 5, two days before his disappearance he wrote home for the last time, telling of his expected voyage and asking his mother to write to him often, and inquiring after her health. From his letters his mother is positive he entertained no thoughts of deserting. Even had he thus left the service she is certain he would have communicated with her during the months that have elapsed. But not a word has ever come to the mother or brother who moved from Kansas City to Denver to take up the fight against tuberculosis.

Mrs. Frazier still waits for news of her sailor boy. Where did he go and what fate befell him which prevented him from returning to his ship? Even yet she is hopeful that all will be cleared up. For such is a mother's faith.

Is It Yours

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF William Saunders

December 7, 1822

Horticulturists unless they are great as Burbank, are little noticed in history, yet they do some marvelous things in beautifying and developing a country.

William Saunders, for instance, was very well known in his day, though not so well known now. But much of the beauty of two American cities is due to him.

He was born in Scotland in 1822. He was to become a minister but after studying the ministry for a time he decided to follow his natural inclination the study and care of plants. He was one of the men who worked in the famous Kew Gardens in London, and when he came to America he had already made a reputation. He laid out much of Fairmount Park in Philadelphia and other parks in the Quaker City. He was appointed to a government position in Washington and laid out parks there and planted thousands and thousands of trees. And it is the tree shaded streets of Washington that add to the city's charm as well as the clear white-marble and Grecian simplicity of its public buildings.

Saunders first brought seedling oranges from Brazil and developed from them the seedling large oranges that we have in our own country. He worked, too, on a great estate in the South, where thousands of pounds of tea are grown on a single private plantation. He imported the camphor tree also, so we could grow some of that precious gum here instead of importing all of it.

He died in Washington in 1900.

DEMORALIZING.

For old time ways my spirit pants, o'er modern ways I groan; in olden times my maiden aunts let politics alone. And they were then attractive girls, I truthfully may state; they had their hair done up in curls, their hats were up to date. They looked with cold and scornful eyes on statesmen and their game; they'd talk for hours of cakes and pies, and how to make the same. But housework now they deem a frost; they balk at stewing prunes; they say they'll save, at any cost, our bulwarks and our boons. No more the fuss with pans and bowls, they stoke no kitchen fires; they talk forever of the polls, of green graves of our sires. To me no pancakes do they bring, they've found a nobler sphere; and I could stand this sort of thing, for there's a chophouse near; but oh, it fills me with despair to see those slouchy girls! They haven't time to comb their hair, or do it up in curls; they do not care how tough they look, how seedy they appear, since they've declined to sew and cook, to fill a higher sphere. My aunts are now a frowzy crew, their shoestrings all untied; and once, ah, once I used to view those aunts with honest pride. There may be women who can mix with heelers on the street, and thrash around in politics, and still be fine and sweet, and keep the bearing that enchants, the dignity of—alas, alas, my seven aunts that secret do not hold!

BEAUTY CHATS

French Methods.

FRENCH TYPES

Paris, November 2st. Today I have spent my time in French shops and beauty parlors, and I have been promised that if I stay here a few weeks longer, until a certain well-known specialist can be seen I shall have an opportunity of investigating the inner beauty secrets of the French women.

But today I began with simpler things. They are very ingenious in their treatments in this city, but their methods are highly artificial. Their effects are beautiful enough, but they are not lasting, and they do not try to build up a solid foundation of health and beauty as the English do, and as we in America are trying to do more and more.

With the French, the method is to get most beautiful effects for the moment. The hair should have a wave, "ondulation," they call it—and this is done with marcelling irons that are often too hot for the hair. The hair, of course, should be glossy. But instead of going to the painstaking care of oil rubs and antiseptic shampoos, and a gradual treatment that will bring about the gloss of good health, the Frenchwomen uses something out of a bottle and achieves an immediate temporary effect.

To take another simple example, the French manicurist will save herself time and trouble of buffing nails by painting them over with a certain varnish which produces a high gloss lasting a week. She will smile sweetly and tell you in French that "it is the very latest thing." She will not tell you, however, that the varnish is bad for the nails, that by its use you are really keeping your finger nails from breathing for days at a time, and the inevitable results of such artificiality must be old looking, dry and cracked nails.

Possibly, however, the little French manicurist does not know this, for she is much more frivolous minded than her little English sister. Or possibly, she does know, she does not care particularly. After all, there are many visitors in Paris and their customers come and go rapidly that she can take no personal interest in any of them.

Pesty—The soap you are using is rather drying for the complexion unless you have a very oily skin. The best general soap for the face is pure castile.

Josephine T.—You are about right in weight. Possibly you only imagine that the legs are too thin. If you feel you are undeveloped try walking a great deal, since this is splendid for developing the calf of the legs and the hips. Dance as much as you can also, for this not only makes the legs well shaped, but makes the whole body graceful. If your complexion is too dry rub it with cleansing cream before you wash it, and always use a castile soap.

Kitty—Register at employment and typewriter agencies for extra work to do at home.

Paris, November 2nd.

When I last wrote I was sitting in a room in a London hotel, with a great deal of fog and drizzle in the world outside. I am now in a delightful place in Paris, and the sky is as clear and as blue as though it were summer time. Meantime I have walked and walked during my brief residence here, until I feel that already I know an enormous amount about Parisian women and Parisian methods of beauty culture.

This is certainly one of the most beautiful cities in the world; a city of great boulevards, radiating from central points, usually a lovely square, a magnificent church or a triumphal arch.

It is a city of magnificent vistas, a city that tempts the visitor to follow down its enchanting boulevards, and to walk always further and further. For when one reaches the end of one boulevard, it is only to find a new vista opening up, and to be tempted to walk again until some new point of beauty has been reached. In London I was always turned off the main ways into little picturesque streets and courts, but in Paris I walk straight on from one point to another without any deviation until suddenly I discover that I am ready to drop from fatigue.

The city seems to put its most beautiful side forward for the visitor. The women, also, seem to do this very thing. There were thousands of them out promenading today and they were most exquisitely gotten up for the occasion. At first glance all of them seemed extraordinarily well dressed but after a little study even the casual visitor could see that it is not what the Parisian wears, but the manner in which she wears it, that gives this effect.

There is no French type as distinct as the Anglo-Saxon. In London the brunette was a rarity. Here there are many of them, and usually very beautiful ones. Even the poorest girls seem to possess a singular beauty and certain grace which is hard to define. I have missed somewhat the universal refinement of the English woman; but even when the girls on the boulevards are of coarse extraction, they are so vivacious, so pretty and so altogether alluring, that one does not mind this.

English Maid—A girl with very light brown hair and dark brown eyes should wear the following colors to bring out the depths of her eyes and to make her hair seem even lighter; dark brown, bronze, henna, beige, yellow and green.

Salmon Loaf—Mix one cup of flaked salmon, one-half cup bread crumbs, one cup thin white sauce (milk thickened with flour), one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper. Beat all well together and pack in well greased pan. Sprinkle few crumbs on top and dot with bits of oleo-margarine or butter.

Baked Creamed Potatoes With

Cheese—Dice cold boiled potatoes, add one cup thin white sauce, put in greased pan, sprinkle top with one-third cup grated cheese and bake until brown, about twenty minutes.

Honolulu Salad—Allow one slice

pineapple for each person. Make small balls of cottage cheese, using two parts cheese to one part chopped nuts. Put balls in circular hole of pineapple. Serve with cooked salad dressing.

RABBIT SEASON.

Select a rabbit that is plump and short necked, with the flesh stiff and fresh and without discoloration. When an animal is to be used for roasting choose a young animal under a year old, as it will be more tender.

To Dress a Rabbit—In killing grasp firmly by the hind legs, head hanging downward, and strike the animal a sharp blow on the back of the head. The throat should be cut immediately and the rabbit thoroughly bled. Wipe up the gobbles joints and add a sheep or hog.

To Skin a Rabbit—Cut off the head and feet. Make a cut in the skin across the middle of the back. Put both hands into the cut and draw the skin back until it comes to the legs. Grasp the body in the left hand and draw the skin off over the legs with the right hand.

To Clean a Rabbit—Make a cut down the abdomen to neck, being careful not to cut entrails; remove same, wash carcass and soak.

To Cut a Rabbit for Stewing—First the hind legs are removed at the joint in a manner similar to the method used for removing the legs from chicken, cutting through the flesh, then bending back at the joint. Next the fore legs are removed at the joint, but of course the pieces are much smaller. All that is left is the back, which is divided at a point near the middle.

Two medium rabbits will serve eight persons.

Cooking—Much of the excellence depends on the manner of cooking it. Rabbit meat should be soaked in salted water; this improves the flesh and draws the blood. A little soda added to the water helps to remove the wild flavor.

It must be remembered that the meat is free from fat, therefore fat in some form must be used with it.

For frying and roasting bacon is best; for boiling salt pork is often used; butter and oil are excellent in many ways of cooking it.

When the Mercury Drops - look to the Motor Lubricant

MOTOR OILS which lubricate correctly in the warm months are often unfitted for use in winter.

They congeal in cold weather and don't start lubricating until the heat of the engine has made them fluid.

The right oil for winter lubrication is an oil of sufficient "cold test" to flow freely at low temperatures.

It starts lubricating at the first turn of the engine—doesn't wait for the heat generated by gas explosions (and steel rubbing against steel) to make it fluid.

It pumps easily, keeps oil passages clean and reaches the closely fitted bearings quickly. Its liquid film of oil on cylinder walls and bearings keeps the engine flexible, reduces strain on batteries and starting motor and maintains full compression.

If you haven't already done so, change now to a low "cold test" lubricant that will protect vital motor parts in the coldest weather.

Polarine Motor Oil is such a lubricant. It is scientifically refined to provide sufficient "cold test" and the correct body to maintain a perfect piston-to-cylinder seal. Polarine flows freely at temperatures close to zero. It keeps a protecting film of oil over bearings at all times.

Its use means longer motor life.

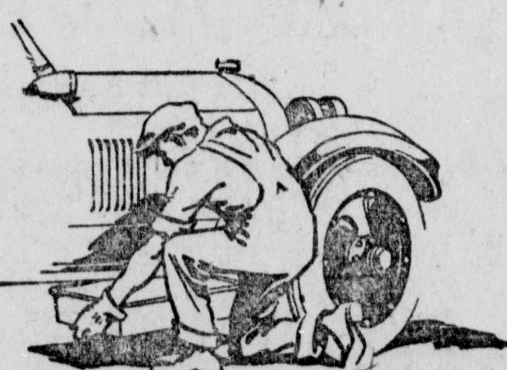

Winter lubrication of transmission and rear axle gears and bearings is equally vital. Ask for Polarine Transmission Lubricant "A". It meets cold weather requirements.

Buy Polarine Lubricants and Red Crown Gasoline where you see the Red Crown Sign—Service Stations and dealers.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY

(An Ohio Corporation)

Whatever oil you use, drain the crank-case and refill with fresh lubricant frequently. Every 750 miles is a good rule in winter, when richer fuel mixtures dilute the lubricant faster. Have the garage-man drain out your old oil and refill the crank-case with Polarine.

FARMERS OF CLINTON COUNTY ORGANIZE SHIPPING CONCERN

A shipping association to aid farmers in shipping grain and stock, to be known as the Clinton County Shipping Association was formed at a meeting in Wilmington recently.

The Association was patterned after the Fayette County Shipping Association, which has been found successful and of great aid to farmers. The Clinton County Farm Bureau members within their own organization, after the advantages of such an organization was explained by members of the Fayette County association.

According to the constitution of the new Association, membership in the Farm Bureau is essential to membership in the Shipping Association, and the Association will be capitalized at $3,000 and 3,000 shares of $1 each. No member may hold more than one share of the stock nor can he dispose of his stock without the consent of the Bureau.

The Association gives farmers the opportunity to see the same price for a few head of stock as if they were shippers of a large number.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN THARP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—MRS. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

MEXICO ANNOUNCES BASIS PAYING EXPORT DUTIES BY OIL COMPANIES

Mexico City, Mexico, Dec. 7.—Decision has been reached by the Mexican Government in the great controversy with the oil-producing companies over the basis upon which export duties of oil are to be paid.

The Government will fix the price of the oil as a guide to the payment of duties for the two-month period embracing September and October, and all future two-month periods hereafter.

It was at first proposed that the export duties be paid to the Government on the basis established by New York prices, the Government getting about 10 per cent of the value of the oil.

Some of the oil men objected, saying that they had long contracts at figures considerably lower than New York prices. They were told that the Mexican Government should not be asked to pay for their business blunders.

It is believed that the New York prices will be chosen by the Government as the basis of settlement.

CROSS PETITION IS FILED TO SUIT

Harry C. Barmann, well known South Charleston merchant, has filed an answer and cross-petition in common pleas court, Springfield, to the suit for divorce brought against him some time ago by Annie Barmann.

Barmann is the owner of real estate in South Charleston and the owner of a half interest in the Barmann & Brothers general store in that village. They have three grown children.

In his cross petition, Barmann denies his wife's accusations, and alleges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. He recites many family quarrels, say that his wife often went away and stayed for several months that she refused to cook out of the house that she struck him out of the house, that she struck him frequently and threatening at numerous times to commit suicide or to leave him, 'degrading him before the public.'

He further alleges that she publicly charged him with being guilty of misconduct and asks that he be granted the divorce, be decreed the furniture and one half interest in real estate. His wife in her petition made statutory charges.

FORD TO IMPROVE D. T. & I. RAILROAD HE ANNOUNCES

It is officially stated that the new owners of the D. T. & I. Railroad, Henry Ford and son, Edsel, have made complete and comprehensive plans for general improvement of the road and already have started the work of carrying these plans into execution with result that rapid headway is being made.

While it is one of Mr. Ford's wishes that the system be placed in condition to assure Detroit and environs an adequate and uninterrupted supply of coal at all times, he has much broader views for the future development and activities of the road. He expects to use it for the untold development of all territory through which it passes, giving first class service to all points along the system.

It is further definitely announced that the road will be used to full capacity at all times, the number and speed of trains being the highest obtainable with service and safety.

In a personal inspection of the road Mr. Ford has noted all grades, bridges, sidings and in fact everything of importance connected with the road along the entire 454 miles of main track. He went out with repair gangs and examined every unit of the road's motive power, made decisions about new rails, new shops and changes and improvements generally.

In purchasing the road Mr. Ford was mindful not only of the fact that it is a direct line between Michigan and the great coal fields, but is crossed by some 25 other railroads uniting the east and west, thus offering ideal connecting facilities for both freight and passenger service, and that it passes through some of the richest agricultural territory in existence.

HARDING BIDS FAREWELL TO U. S. SENATE IN ADDRESS AT FINAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 7.—(Sanding at his desk he served for nearly six years, President-elect Warren G. Harding, bade farewell to the United States senate yesterday in a brief speech, choked with emotion, expressed the hope that he might have the co-operation of his colleagues in the four years beginning March 4, next.

Great tasks are ahead of the nation, he pointed out, and their solution depends upon the spirit of co-operation and mutual helpfulness that will exist between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

The galleries were choked with people and hundreds stood outside unable to gain admittance.

Senator Harding's voice was low and husky as he bade his farewell. His eyes were dimmed with tears.

"I am pleased at this greeting by fellow members of the senate," he said. "There is still greater satisfaction in having this opportunity to say to you informally some of the things in my heart which I could utter in no other way. I recognize that I am here today under somewhat unusual circumstances and there is a delicacy about it that one in my position cannot escape except through some form of self effacement which does not seem quite possible.

"No member of this body could be more reluctant to leave it. I may say to the senate that I came here with very high respect for this body, and I am leaving it with greater respect than that with which I came. If one could always direct his own political fortunes to his liking, I should have preferred my membership here to any office a citizen may hold in this republic or elsewhere in the world. I like the freedom, the association, the patriotic sense responsibility, which abides here. I am conscious of the great place which congress holds under our constitution, and particularly sensible to the obligations of the senate. When by responsibilities begin in the executive capacity I shall be as mindful of the senate's responsibilities as I have been zealous of them as a member, but I mean, at the same time to be just as insistent about the responsibilities of the executive. Our governmental good fortune does not lie in any surrender at either end of the avenue, but in the co-ordination and co-operation which became the two in a great and truly representative popular government.

"This brings me to the thought particularly in my mind. Something has been said about the senatorial oligarchy. Of course everyone knows that to be a bit of highly imaginative and harmless fiction. But I do not recognize how essential is the helpfulness of the senate in the making of a successful administration. I want to express today the wish of a colleague

DOUBT PASSAGE OF FARM BILL

Washington, Dec. 6.—Possibility of the immediate passage of legislation recreating the war finance corporation to relieve the credit shortage in agricultural commodities was placed in doubt today with the return of Senator Gronna, Republican of North Dakota, chairman of the senate agricultural committee.

The question of the war finance corporation must be gone into carefully as that body did not produce the remedies promised for it during the war, Gronna declared.

OFFICIALS ROUNDUP TRIO OF SUSPECTS IN XENIA MONDAY

Stanley Dillman, 14, 53 West State street, Springfield, Clyde Baxley, 13, Allison avenue, R. R. 9, Springfield, both white, and Percy Ford, 19, colored, of 909 Grand avenue, Springfield, juvenile delinquents, were arrested near the Eavey Packing Company plant on Washington street Monday night by Pennsylvania Railroad detectives, Macrodt and Latimer, after a search in which Patrolman Jones and Smms took part.

The boys were returned to Springfield Tuesday morning by Probation Officers J. C. Parsons, father of City Manager Parsons, of Springfield, and Walter Gladfelder, who came to this city in an automobile. Baxley had been released by Officer Parsons last week on promise of good behavior and was in juvenile court recently for stealing a watch. Ford was released from the Reformatory about a year ago.

A loaded 22 calibre revolver was taken from Ford when he was searched at police headquarters, and playing cards, pipes, tobacco, some bread and butter, were found on the persons of the boys. They stole a ride to this city on a freight Monday night, they said. Citizens on South Detroit street, complained to police about the actions of the boys, leading to a search instituted by the officers which ended in their capture.

COURT SETS ASIDE HEARST INJUNCTION

Washington, Dec. 6.—The district court of appeals today set aside the injunction granted by the district supreme court against the shipping board in the suit of William Randolph Hearst to prevent the sale of 27 former German vessels, and directing dismissal of the bill of Mr. Hearst. The action of congress permitting the sale of the ships in question, according to the court, has made the question of whether the shipping board exceeded its powers in offering the ships for sale at public auction, a moot one.

Method of Reproduction

The Ultona, an exclusive all-record reproducer, to be obtained only on The Brunswick. It plays all makes of records at their best. Not an attachment, but a built-in part.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier, made entirely of moulded wood, like a fine violin. Gives added richness and fullness to tone. Does away with metallic sounds.

Two exclusive features You can't buy elsewhere

THE reason so many critical music lovers prefer The Brunswick is not hard to find. It is all due to the Brunswick Method of Reproduction, two features of which are pictured above.

Tone is the chief reason for so many friends for Brunswick. And tone depends largely upon the reproducer and the tone amplifier.

In both of these features Brunswick has gone far in advance. The Ultona plays all records, not confining you to one make. And it plays each exactly as intended, with the proper diaphragm, the proper needle. Best of all, it is not a hastily contrived makeshift, but a basic invention.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier is built entirely of wood. Not merely the part you see, but the throat between the reproducer and amplifier. The usual way is to make this throat of cast metal, a faulty way that brings metallic sounds.

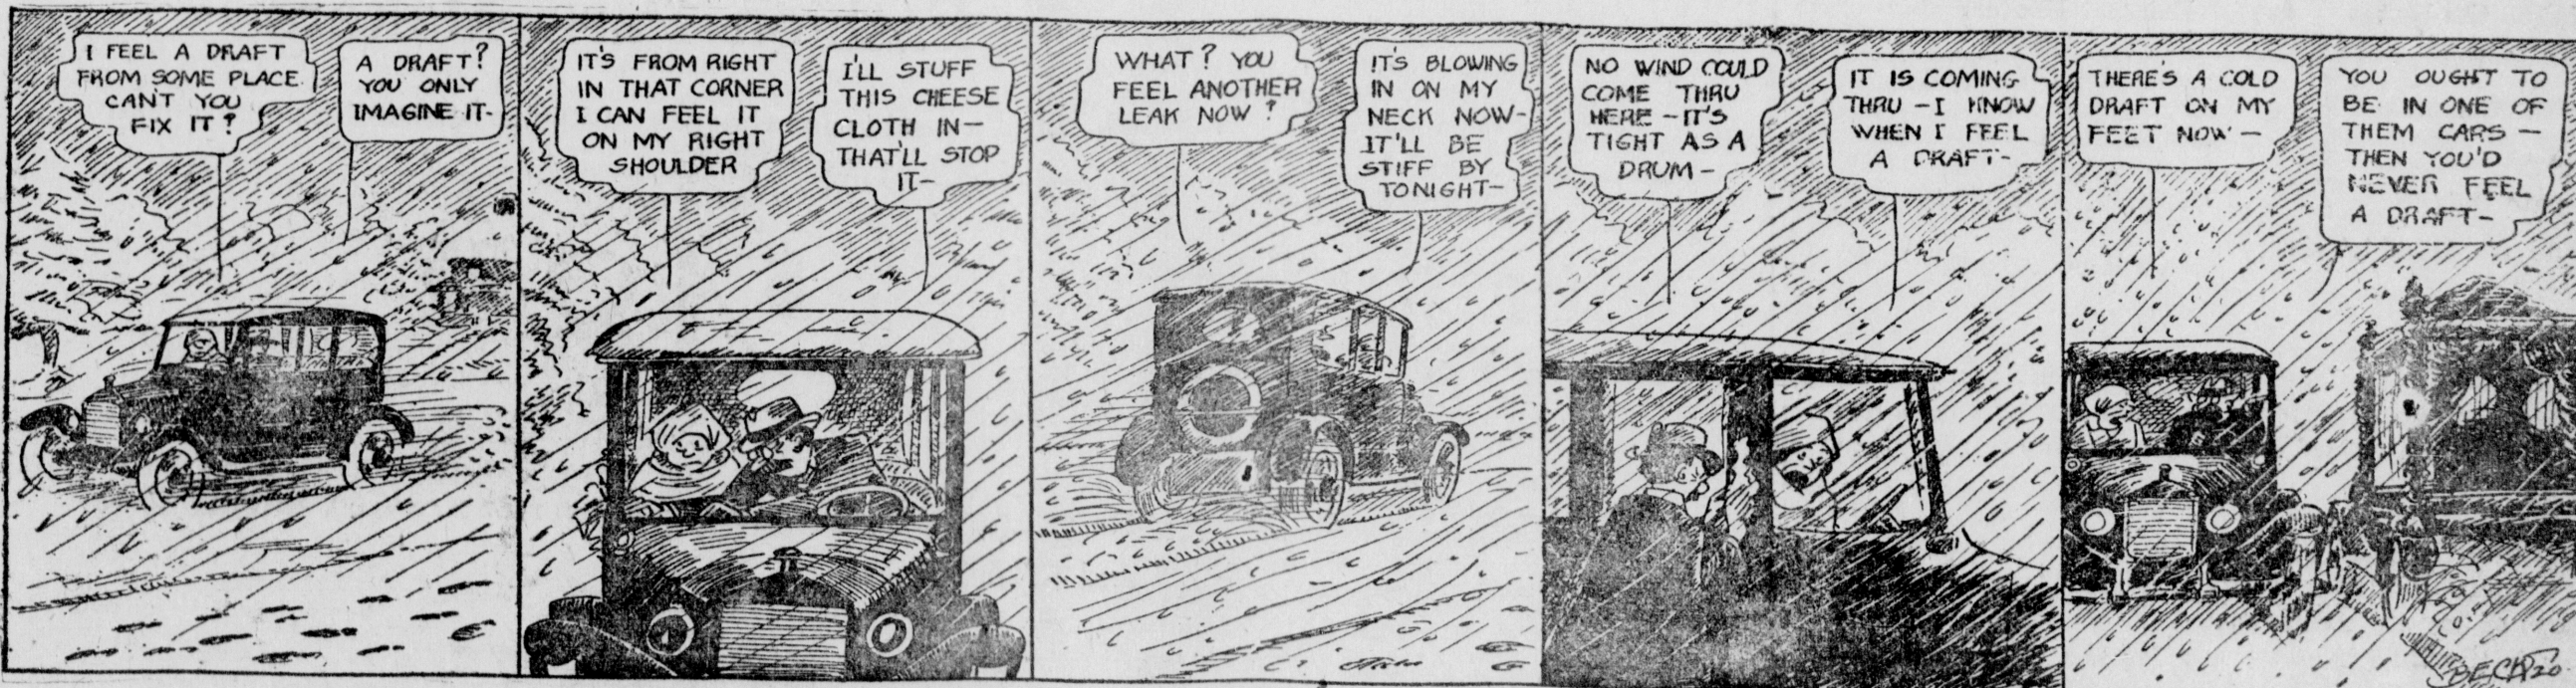

You'll appreciate how far in advance The Brunswick is; you'll admire its superior tone. The proof of the pudding is—Hearing. All we ask you to do is to investigate The Brunswick with your own ears.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Mrs. Thompson gets many letters from her readers discussing the merits of her column. Some of the readers disagree with her views; and occasionally she gets discouraged, but a letter like the following cheers her and makes her feel that her conscientious efforts are worth while. The writer's name is on file on the original letter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a constant and interested reader of your column; therefore you will pardon me if I congratulate you on your good, sound, motherly advice that you give to each one.

When I tell you that I am a married man, considerably past fifty, with a family of grown children, some of whom are married, and that I have in my younger days come in contact and been associated with all kinds of people, you will see that I am in a better position to know and appreciate the value of your advice than many others.

If those who do not need it now would clip out your column daily, study the letters and your replies and follow your teachings, there would be fewer unhappy marriages and less domestic discord.

I thought it might encourage you to know there are many like myself who do not come to you for advice that enjoy reading your column. Naturally I am more interested in the letters from the married people.

YOURS TRULY.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a widow twenty-eight years old and mother of two children, eight and three.

How could I invite a friend to our house without arousing too much gossip? I live with my father. My friend is rather shy on that account. When I meet him, though, he speaks so nicely that I can't help but wish he would come some time. I do not by any means want to be the topic of conversation among the people of our town, as it is a very gossipy place. But I am so lonesome and cannot go anywhere evenings because of no one to go with.

Some time when you and the young man are talking, and he seems particularly interested in you invite him to come to see you. If he is as interested as you think, he will accept your invitation without further urging.

Do not worry about what people will say. It is to be expected that they will have to talk when they see you having a caller. Their talk will be harmless, however. Being a widow it is all right for you to receive the attentions of another man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have often read your department and wish to ask you some questions. What is a good remedy for blackheads? What do the names Katherine, Ann and Louise mean?

Please tell me how much a girl of twelve years and a girl of fifteen years should weigh and how tall they should be? What is a good way to shampoo the hair?

THANK YOU.

A simple treatment for blackheads is to bathe the face in warm soapy water every night, using a soft brittle complexion brush. Use the brush as you would a washcloth and rub the rather well into the skin. Rinse the face well first with warm water then with cold, finishing with an ice rub.

Katherine means pure; Ann denotes grace, and Louise, feminine of Louis, means warrior.

Your weight depends entirely on your height.

Any soap containing tar makes a good shampoo. Be sure to rinse your hair thoroughly after shampooing.

Robert Douglass and John Lewis of Lebanon were week end visitors in Jamestown with Mrs. James Roberts.

Mrs. Floyd Smith entertained her Bible Class, the Loyal Women on Thursday afternoon. After the business session a most delightful social hour was enjoyed.

Mr. A. G. Carpenter is spending a few days in Dayton with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Penfield and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thuma attended the funeral services of Mrs. C. R. Marshall at Jeffersonville on Saturday. Mrs. Marshall was an aunt of Mrs. Thuma.

Mrs. Davis Barnhart has been confined to her home for several days suffering from an attack of tonsillitis.

The Rev. C. W. Horn, a former pastor of the Jamestown M. E. Church, but now located at Lindenwald near Hamilton has been the guest of friends here. Mr. Horn and

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

Nan Finds That Moving Costs.

Chapter 32.
Long before I was settled I found that Clara had been perfectly right about things not fitting—that what had seemed all right when I thought of the new apartment, suddenly appeared not at all suitable or could not be used because of difference in size of windows, rooms and so on.

It was maddening, yet I said nothing to Dick. I would wait until I had done the best I could with what we had, then I would insist upon an account being opened at one of the large department stores here I could find almost everything we would need.

Clara Watson had been a dear helping me all she could and keeping Junior for hours at a time. I worked very hard to get things in shape quickly, and Dick helped me in the evenings, so it wasn't long before we were living regularly again.

But the worried look had not left Dick's face. I caught him figuring several times, so was not surprised when he said:

"I'm afraid we have bit off more than we can chew, Nan. That $5 extra every month on the rent, the cost of moving and what things we seem to be obliged to get, will keep us pretty well cramped. I wish we had stayed in the old place another year."

"Well, I don't! And I don't see why you talk like that. Other men not as clever as you are, with half your education, make enough to keep their families decently. I can't see why you don't. I'll bet you could if you tried. There must be chances to make money where you are. I knew absolutely nothing of business of any sort. A cotton broker meant nothing more to me at this time than a grocer. Business was business—a place where men earned money.

"Oh, Nan! One would think to hear you talk that I didn't try. I get discouraged, dear, when it looks as if I couldn't make ends meet, and yet know you are unhappy."

"Goosie!" I am not unhappy. You can't blame me for wanting pretty clothes and a nice home, can you?"

"Do you still care as much for me as you did?" He asked the question so seriously I was startled.

"Of course I do! I never see a man whom I think is half as nice or good looking or anything as you are!" I declared, kissing him. "And you know it! What in the world made you ask such a question—and in that tone?"

I meant all I said. I did love Dick. I never had given a thought to another man.

"Oh, I have feared you didn't that's all."

"Silly!" I kissed him again. But I changed the conversation. I didn't want to talk about our finances when he was in such a mood. He was apt to make me say I didn't want things when I did. And I had too many plans in my head to make foolish promises.

The very next day after his talk with Dick, Mildred Stowell called me up and said she was going to her dressmaker's that afternoon and wanted me to go with her.

"I will call for you about 2:30,"

she said. "Make yourself look as pretty as you know how. There is another fashion parade, and there will be a lot of people there I know."

"But I—"

"No excuses please dear, I shan't accept them. I'll be after you promptly at 2:30."

It was then about 11 o'clock. I called Mrs. Dooly on the telephone, but she couldn't come over. It was quite different, she said, now that we did not live in the same house. She had to dress for the street every time she came to me and it took too much of her time.

I ran down the stairs to Clara—we were one flight above her—and told her my dilemma. As I had left positive she would she offered to take Junior. I promised to remember every single gown and wrap I saw and tell her all about them when I got home.

I put on the best I owned, a very simple little dark blue tailored suit, and the hat I had bought with the money that remained after I had paid the tradesmen so many weeks ago—the money Mildred Stowell had given me.

The hat was very becoming, and when I had put on the nice veil I had bought that day I shopped with Clara—the one I charged to her—I had to be satisfied. It was the best I could do.

"You look very chic," Mildred greeted me. "That's a love of a hat."
